

Disclosure information – Planners & Faculty

No planners or faculty in control of content for this activity have any relevant financial relationships with companies whose primary business is producing, marketing, selling, re-selling, or distributing healthcare products used by or on patients.

ACP Anti-Harassment Policy

ACP is a community that values collegiality, respect for patients and each other, and medicine's standards of ethics and professionalism. ACP members are guided by the content and spirit of the ACP Pledge and by their commitment to the ethics of medicine, including those in the ACP Ethics Manual. "Physicians' conduct as professionals and as individuals should merit the respect of the community."

ACP expects members, staff, and others who participate in events and activities involving ACP to treat others as you would like to be treated – with courtesy, respect for differences, and in ways that appropriately represent the profession of internal medicine.

ACP Anti-Harassment Policy (continued)

As set forth in ACP's Anti-Harassment Policy, ACP does not tolerate any form of harassment, including intimidation, hostility, or other unwelcome and offensive communication or treatment.

If you experience or observe harassing, inappropriate or otherwise unprofessional behavior, please report it to the appropriate person.

Go to the Alaska chapter webpage and follow the prompts to claim credit and points.

The American College of Physicians (ACP) is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The ACP designates this live activity for a maximum 19
TM

Thanks for joining us!

For more information about topics covered at our meeting, and more, visit

ACP's Online Learning Center:

www.acponline.org/cme-moc/online-learning-center

