

Joint Recommendations of the American Academy of Family Physicians, American Academy of Pediatrics, American Congress of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, American College of Physicians, and American Osteopathic Association on
Priorities for Coverage, Benefits and Consumer Protection Changes

February 2, 2017

Our organizations represent a combined membership of 500,000 physician and medical student members, most of whom are providing front line care to patients throughout the United States. As discussions around health care reform continue, we urge Congress and the new administration to preserve essential coverage, benefits and consumer protections as established by current law.

SystemReforms

Our organizations welcome and encourage improvements upon current law to ensure a health care system optimized for patients and their physicians, including consideration of the following:

- x Reducing prescription drug costs
- x